

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A pin driver usable with a frame tool for driving pins into a frame element having a reciprocating driver blade moveable between a retracted position and an extended position, a guide shoe associated with the driver blade for guiding the pin from 5 a ready position to a driven position, and a hammer arm assembly mounted in operational relationship to the guide shoe configured to strike and bend the pin upon reaching the driven position.